Operations Manager

We invite applications for a key management person with above average numeracy and computational ability to take on the role of Operations Manager at Morebo. The successful candidate will appreciate the need to communicate persuasively with colleagues to gain their co-operation to support the client facing and revenue producing units efficiently and within compliance guidelines.

The purpose of the job is threefold.

- to manage the operational side of the business so that management and staff have the benefit of a fit-for-purpose operating environment and administrative support services.
- to monitor this service, ensuring it is helping and not hindering the organisation meeting its strategic outcomes.
- tracking the performance of the company through a management information system and reporting to the Exco to help drive their decision making. A solid understanding of business intelligence would be a real advantage here.

The operating environment of the company is compliance driven. So, this position will have clearly defined parameters. Regular contact with the teams on the production side is required to ensure that there is a single and effective operating system.

A person with an appropriate financial degree, who is comfortable with analytical financial report writing and a good systems thinker, could carve out a solid career path for themselves in this position.

Should you consider yourself a possible candidate, please send a ONE PAGE CV containing only key personal data which will allow us to draw up a shortlist. Should you be shortlisted, you will have ample opportunity to tell us in detail why you would be the best candidate for the job.

Please send the one-page CV to flagrange@morebo.co.za and mark it for attention of the Group CEO.

Morebo is an equal opportunity employer and reserves the right not to make an appointment. At this stage, recruitment agents will not be considered to assist with the placement.
